

Hello!

I quite understand the nature of things round the world of Internet, due to the recent internet abuse many people believe that every transaction that comes from the internet is not generous, i will treat this issue very sincere to your understanding. The recent thought over merging my bank Abn Amro N.V. with Barclay's Bank Plc United Kingdom, I was made head of service in my department by the Board of directors of my bank ABN AMRO N.V. (The Netherlands) to compile all credit accounts that has been in operation with the bank.

During the compilation of all credit accounts, I discovered a credit account with A/C NO: NL85ABNA6008341843 and (7,467,000.00Euros) deposited. My investigation of the said account reveals that the investor died in 2000 in a plane crash, I t was A German who Ran carmaker BMW's museum and that was the exact period the account were last operated. I can confirm with certainty that no body has ever come as heir apparent of Late Engineer Christian Eich.

The Netherlands law demands that I notify the fiscal authorities after a statutory time period of seven years when dormant accounts of this type are called in by the monetary regulatory bodies. The above set of facts underscores my reason of writing and making the following proposal to you. I have chosen to seek your consent to work with me as a partner to achieve this fund under the legitimacy as the heir apparent of Late Engineer Christian Eich. Without any fear of doubt arising from the bank authority. Please, do let me know your readiness towards achieving this goal together as a partner.

Sincerely

Mr. Paul Den Cole

Appointed Auditor

Abn-Amro Bank N. V.
